City of LaGrange in Collaboration with West Point, Hogansville, and Troup County Continues Anti-Littering Campaign

LaGrange, Ga. May 17, 2018 – The City of LaGrange in collaboration with West Point, Hogansville, and Troup County continues its anti-littering campaign.

This week an additional video featuring the cities of Hogansville and West Point was released.

City and county leaders began working together in early 2018 to tackle litter issues throughout the entire area.

Tuesday West Point Mayor Steve Tramell debuted the video featuring West Point Elementary School students during the school's morning announcements. He talked to the students about the importance of keeping the community clean.

"I'm so grateful for LGTV for creating this wonderful video for our community," said Tramell.

"Everyone here in West Point had a great time with their crew."

Thursday Hogansville Mayor Bill Stankewicz debuted the video featuring Hogansville Elementary students also during the school's morning announcements. Students asked him questions about why the video is so important.

"I really despise litter. It's like throwing trash in your house," said Stankewicz.

"Throwing litter in the streets is disrespectful to our community because this is home for all of us."
