Hills and Dales to Honor Halloween Tradition

LaGrange, Ga. October 31, 2017 – Hills and Dales Estate will be taking part in a long-standing Halloween tradition dating back to the 1950s.

They will be handing out full-size candy bars at the estate today (October 31st).

Alice Callaway started this tradition back in the 1950's quickly making it a popular trick or treating spot in the community.

According to Hills & Dales Marketing and Communications Director Lauren Clark, the Callaway family still participates in this beloved tradition.

"Today, the family still gathers at the porte cochere to greet costumed children each Halloween," she said.

"The estate staff also looks forward to this event. We are proud to carry on such a sweet tradition."

Trick or treating will begin at 5:30pm and last until 8:00pm.

This event is free and open to the public.
