LaGrange Firefighters Injured in Labor Day Fire Continue to Improve

LaGrange, Ga. September 7, 2018 – The four LaGrange firefighters injured in the Labor Day structure fire continue to improve.

Josh Williams, who sustained third degree burns, is expected to stay at the Augusta Burn Center for at least another 30 days. Williams received burns to 30% of his body.

Jonathan Williamson, Pete Trujillo and Jordan Avera continue to recover from their injuries at Grady Memorial Hospital in Atlanta. All three have second and third degree burns.

The four firefighters sustained severe burn injuries Monday, September 3rd while fighting a structure fire at 305 Revis Street Monday morning at 2:50 a.m.

Two firefighters, James Ormsby and Sean Guerrero received minor injuries.

The family living in the home escaped unharmed. The Red Cross is assisting the family.

To help support the firefighter families affected, a family friend set up a GoFundMe account. City leaders have confirmed this account is legitimate. The money raised will be distributed among all four firefighters.
